Received correspondence from Ms. Hann.

1. Sewage collection and disposal is much more important than building highways or even providing Fire-Protection, and - therefore - should not be left to the whims of money-making ventures.

2. Last year, I (then a resident of a suburb of Honolulu, HI) encountered exactly the same request from the American Sewer Co. which turned out to be a German business venture that did not deliver to its share holders what they were promised: the Euro then was stronger than the dollar and when the Euro slid down the company wanted a 100% rate hike! Sounds familiar?

3. Greed and opprtunism characterize these rate-hike requests. Sewage disposal should be in the hands of municipalities and covered by reasonable taxation.
